No workshops yet in Nov, but 1 in December.

Fall Craft Fair-Jack Marten announced that the sign up sheets and slips are on the front desk and the fair will be Nov 5th. And he showed the Raffle pieces.

Picnic will be Oct 12 at noon, and it is $5.00. Signup sheet on front counter. Christmas Party had been changed to Dec 13th and the location is now the Colonnade on Grand Blvd. We cannot bring our own bottles, but there will be a cash bar. Menu Steak, Fish, or Chicken. Still $20.00. This will probably be the last year that we can get a Christmas Party for $20.00 each.

Village Store-Peggy Fagyal will be giving a workshop on Oct 6 after the General Meeting on how to fill out the Village Store slips correctly.

Firing Room-Karol Woodbury said that we will continue to fire 3 days a week, until notice. Also we really need more help on the room. See her or Sue Lewis. Also 3X3 stilts have walked away, and if you know where they walked to, tell them to come home, they are needed. It is not fair to the club to keep buying more. Also we have a new Kiln and it works well.

Green ware-Chuck Inman was not there, but if the green ware on the shelf is not good enough go buy it somewhere else and pay more, clean and fix ours, or better yet, take the pouring class and do your own.

He will be giving a workshop on how to repair green ware in the future. Remember some of our molds are getting old. No Comment, Ha

Pouring-Nancy Dobbins reported that the pouring table has been fixed, and we have had major pouring during the month of August, and we have even poured some of the new molds. Some of the new molds have been lost, we think they have been placed where our old molds are before we got them new numbers, and we may not find them until mold inventory. There are still some new molds to be poured.
